Special Operations TACP Assessment

1. INTRODUCTION.

Thank you for your interest in becoming a Special Operations TACP. This document outlines the application procedures to become a Special Operations TACP. The Special Tactics forces that a Special Operations TACP teams with are organized under the 720th Special Tactics Group (STG) of Air Force Special Operations Command (AFSOC) and assigned to the 21st, 22nd, 23rd, 26th Special Tactics Squadron (STS). Applicants familiar with earlier versions of this package should review this document thoroughly, as it has undergone significant revision.

- └ Must be financially stable
- └ Guard Applicants must meet eligibility requirements to join Active duty

3. SPECIAL OPERATIONS TACP APPLICATION PROCEDURES.

Special Operations TACP assessments are conducted no less than twice each year usually in the spring and fall. Each cycle has two phases: Phase I and Phase II. In Phase I, a panel reviews and stratifies applications submitted by the deadline. Selected applicants are invited to attend Phase II to take a closer look at the potential of becoming an AFSOC TACP. Phase II assessments consist of a one-week evaluation conducted at Hurlburt Field, FL, approximately 30 days after Phase I. Candidates must attend Phase II in TDY status and AFSOC will fund their attendance. Your decision to attend is voluntary and non-binding. Selection at Phase II means the selection board president, the 24 SOW/CCC has approved your entry into the career field and pipeline training. It is ultimately up to you to accept the challenge.

Active Duty USAF: The Special Operations TACP position is open to the grades of E-4 through E-7. CONUS candidates must have at least 2 years of Time on Station (TOS) and OCONUS candidates must be within 1 year of their DEROS prior to attending assessment and selection.

It is recommended candidates are:

- 1) JTAC experts (this includes all means of fire support, not just CAS.)
- 2) Physically fit
- 3) Expert Marksmen (combat, not AFQC)

- 4) At least, combat lifesavers (candidates should be familiar with performing IVs)
- 5) Proficient in combatives (with and without kit)
- 6) Ranger qualified (highly desired)
- 7) Proficient in Land Navigation

4. PHASE I

Phase I applications are due by the date posted on the message accompanying the application package. The Recruiting Assessment and Selection (RAS) staff does an initial review of the applications for completeness and convenes a review board. Invitations are sent to selected individuals with Phase II reporting instructions.

The RAS staff designates the candidate team leader. The team is encouraged to begin team building via email and other means. The more cohesive the team is prior to arrival, the better the team interaction will be during Phase II and enhancing everyone's chances to be selected. The team leader is the primary means of contacting the RAS staff for assessment-related matters. The RAS staff is your definitive resource for all policy, continuity and information on Phase II.

All non-invited applicants will receive feedback on their applications from the RAS staff. If you do not hear from a member of the RAS staff within 45 days of submitting your application, contact them for details.

Note: Guard applicants must annotate on the cover page of their Phase I application that they meet eligibility requirements. This includes identifying and securing eligibility for all waivers necessary to transition to active duty. Annotation on the Phase I package indicates to the reviewing authority that you have met all requirements.

Read through ANNEX A for complete instructions on constructing your Phase I package.

5. PHASE II

Phase II Selection is conducted at Hurlburt Field, FL. The purpose of Phase II is to assess each candidate in attributes for the purpose of determining if you have the raw skills to operate in the Special Operations environment. Your performance will be evaluated as a team member and as an individual. The schedule is designed to stress you. The Special Operations TACP cadre will observe and take notes on everything you do. These observations will be the basis for a hiring recommendation made to the 24 SOW/CCC. The data will also be used to provide critical feedback to enhance your personal and professional growth.

Candidates must be prepared for a physically and mentally demanding week. You cannot trust your judgment of your physical and mental preparedness prior to coming to Phase II. Feedback from most candidates indicates that the assessment is more demanding than anything they anticipated. The cadre will push you physically and mentally to assess those critical attributes in adverse situations. You will be expected to perform to the best of your ability in all events.

Lodging will be coordinated for all candidates. Candidates will be lodged together for the duration of Phase II. The candidate team leader is responsible for passing travel and contact information for all candidates. When the candidate team leader arrives, he must check in with the Assessment Director for further instructions.

There are five ways to be dismissed during Phase II. Failure to meet and maintain PT standards for the duration of Phase II is grounds for immediate dismissal. Medical disqualification results from a medical assessment to determine your ability to safely continue Phase II. Self- Initiated Elimination (SIE) means that you no longer wish to continue in the assessment. Quitting by Action (QBA) is a Phase II policy that allows the Phase II cadre to give you consecutive warnings during an assessment event, for demonstrating lack of motivation to continue to perform at the required level of effort. If a candidate SIE's or QBA's, he will not be considered again for assessment. Finally, the Phase II cadre retains the ability to remove a candidate for any actions violating the UCMJ.

Candidates should be prepared for the following:

- └ Psychological testing and interviews
- └ Briefing and writing skills evaluations
- └ Problem solving events
- └ Leadership ability evaluations
- └ Ruck march with 50-70 lbs of weight at distances up to 12 miles
- └ Running for distances up to 5 miles at a time
- └ AFSOC TACP PT Test
- └ Calisthenics sessions of various exercises

Those candidates who successfully complete Phase II and are selected can expect to receive an assignment at Joint Base Lewis-McChord, WA, Pope AFB, NC, Hurlburt Field, FL, or Cannon AFB, NM. The location will be dictated by the 720th STG/CEM and AFSOC TACP FAM based upon operational necessity. Applicants should be prepared to receive an assignment to any of the above locations and your order of assignment preference is not a consideration for the board.

Guard selectees must contact an active-duty recruiter and begin the process to transition through guard accessions onto active duty. Once the TACP CFM has provided a slot for the guard selectee, AFPC will generate a "place holder" assignment until the AFSOC FAM designates a Special Tactics Squadron for the individual to be assigned to based on the needs of the force. Guard selectees can expect to lose rank when they transition to active duty. Guard applicants must be between the rank of SrA and MSgt when they submit their application to attend the AFSOC TACP selection. There is no age restriction on guard applicants.
