1. Consistent with HAF determinations regarding prioritized PCS movement outlined in the AF Assignment DEROS and RNLTD "Re-Flow" Plan, I have determined Overseas Rotations to/from Air Force Special Operations Command OCONUS positions are critical to the continued operations of AF mission-essential functions.

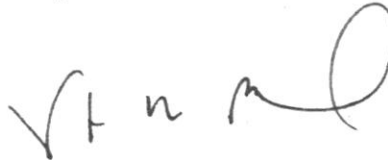

2. Effective immediately, military members that are projected to PCS to/from these AFSOC OCONUS mission-essential positions are authorized to PCS contingent on both gaining and losing command coordination. Additionally, normal civilian hiring activities may resume for filling AFSOC OCONUS positions and civilian Airmen that are already projected to PCS to these OCONUS mission-essential functions are authorized to proceed contingent on both gaining and losing command coordination and if applicable, availability of centralized or local PCS funds. Civilian employees rotating back to the CONUS in compliance with their agreement are covered under an already-existing exemption.

3. PCS travel is authorized IAW current RNLTD/DEROS; early departure/reporting is not authorized simply due to the existence of this waiver. However, members and commanders have discretion to request deviations from current RNLTDs/DEROS dates through existing AFPC processes to facilitate readiness, alleviate hardship, or if gaining locations are not able to accept incoming Airmen.

4. The following conditions must be met prior to travel:

QUIET PROFESSIONALS

- a. Losing and gaining commanders must verify local conditions are conducive to travel and that gaining installations/units will accept personnel.
 - b. Establish pre-and post-travel screening and reception procedures for all authorized travelers as provided in reference (c) and any subsequent guidance, to include establishing a means of communication with all personnel throughout the pre-and post-travel screening and reception process and providing information regarding prescribed actions for their particular circumstances, to include any required Restriction of Movements (ROMs) directed by local commanders.
 - c. Travelers must use military- or DoD-contracted end-to-end travel using aircraft or other conveyance for DoD-sponsored travelers to the greatest extent practicable, unless between areas designated for unrestricted travel.
 - d. Travelers must maintain contact with their gaining organization in advance of travel and keep the organization updated on their travel itinerary.
5. Authorized dependents are permitted movement under this waiver; travel will be consistent with AFI 36-2110, Joint Travel Regulation, and reference (c).
6. For any questions regarding this waiver, the AFSOC point of contact is Ms. Gina Gammick, DSN 579-2331, gina.gammick@us.af.mil.
